

Section 3

The British Shorthair is a powerful, compact cat with a sturdy body and legs, a shortish tail and a round head with small, widely-spaced ears, large, round eyes and a short, straight nose. The coat is short, dense and crisp rather than fine and close-lying like the Burmese or Siamese, but with no fluffiness to it.

The other cats in this section have a similar type to the British.

Tabby British Shorthairs

In the British Tabbies the markings show up clearly on the short coat. The classic tabby pattern, with its "butterfly" marking on the shoulders and "oysters" on the flanks, and the mackerel pattern with thin unbroken lines running vertically from the spine are judged together. In the Spotted the markings consist of numerous clear spots of dark colour on a paler background, with no unbroken lines on the body or legs. In all except the Black Silver Tabbies and Spotties the eye colour is copper, orange or deep gold.

Manx - GEMS MAN

British in origin and shown in the British Shorthair section, the Manx does not have British type. The major difference, of course, is the complete absence of tail, but there are other differences - the back is short and the hind legs are longer than the front ones, the nose is longer than in the British and the ears are taller. The coat has a double quality as the hairs of the outer coat are longer than those of the thick undercoat. The coat and eye colours are similar to those in the British shorthairs, but are of less importance than the other features of the breed, the only pattern which is not permitted being the Colourpointed/Siamese distribution.

Selkirk Rex - GEMS SRS/SRL

The Selkirk Rex is a curly coated breed which originated in the USA. Its type is very similar to the British Shorthair, to which it is outcrossed, with a rounded head, cobby body and sturdy legs. As it may also be outcrossed to Persians and Exotic Shorthairs, Selkirk Rex may be longhaired or shorthaired. Like the other rex breeds, they may be bred in any combination of colour and pattern.

Chartreux

The Chartreux is a very old breed which owes its origins to France, though generally considered to be British in appearance it is in fact very different in head shape/body conformation & coat quality. The Chartreux is of stocky build with broad well developed chest. The coat is quite dense laying flatter than a more typically British coat. The only colour accepted is blue.

GENERAL KNOWLEDGE

Some amazing facts about cats that you may or may not know. While a male cat is often called a Tom or Stud, a female a queen, and a baby cat a kitten, did you know that the name of a group of cats is called a clowder? It is thought the name comes from the early 19th century from the dialect cludder or 'clutter'.

Cats can make over 100 different vocal sounds, with the cats in sections 5 and 6 making the loudest. Cats looking out of a window at a bird will sometimes call to it in a fast staccato "ack ack ack" while Burmese cats are known to chirp at their owners.
